Dear Benefactor,

Thank you for your generous donation.

How sad it is to have to relive today what Don Bosco experienced 180 years ago! And what a consolation to see that today, as then, there are good people, like you, who continue to live the same passion of Don Bosco for the poor.

“Many boys were asking me all the time for bread, shoes, shirts, clothes. They absolutely needed them.” (Don Bosco)

We are just 50 km far from Nairobi. People line up at our Don Bosco Mission to draw water. It's more than understandable: we can't live without water...

At the same time, around the world, at a thousand times higher cost, weapons are being sold, because we no longer want to live, we want to be killed by weapons: we kill others and others kill us. What a beautiful game of death! Thousands of children in our Missions in South Sudan live in tents, seeking, along with their mothers, the protection of the Don Bosco Missions. The Salesians no longer know who to turn to, so that the children do not lack, not shoes, not clothes, but food. Those who manufacture, sell, and buy weapons are enriching themselves, including parliamentarians around the world who vote in favor of this dirty and cruel trade. Let us commit ourselves to turn over a new page and ask the Lord for human leaders, not "ferocious and cruel wolves."

Thank you for your help. It is food, it is water. They give life. Thank you for being on the side of life.

A big hug, with immense gratitude.

Fr. Felice
