Dear Benefactor,

Thank you for your recent generous donation.

"I have come to bring the good news to the poor", Jesus told us. He also does it today, but he needs many people like you, who have a heart as big as that of Don Bosco. Thank you so much, with all our heart.

"A God who became man to save us. We must really be something great!". (Don Bosco)

It is the photo that paints the reality of too many children. Children forced to take care of other children and live in situations of unimaginable hardship and suffering.

Yet they are the most important for Jesus. He tells us that he identifies himself with them.

So, why do they have to be tossed from one nation to another and suffer so much without having done anything wrong, just because someone has the courage to say: "This is my home?".

Why not use our heart a little more and say that Christmas isn't Christmas until these "Jesus" receives our attention and our love?

Let's start with the children: stop making them suffer! No more walls! Let's open our hearts and embrace them all: we will have embraced Jesus and it will truly be Christmas because we will find ourselves taking the place of Mary and Joseph.

Merry Christmas and a New Year of great joy!
